FRANK LLOYD WRIGHT & F C ROBIE HOMES TOUR

Visit the Frank Lloyd Wright Home and Studio in Oak Park, Illinois, and the Frederick C. Robie House in Chicago. Trip fee includes transportation and admission to both museums. Participants will enjoy lunch on their own at a local restaurant. Frank Lloyd Wright Home & Studio This extraordinary building was the Wright family residence from 1889 to 1909. The Wright family - Frank and Catherine, and their six children - lived here while he developed his architectural practice, creating what became the Prairie style of architecture. The Studio Annex was completed in 1898. Frederick C. Robie House The culmination of Frank Lloyd Wright's Prairie style, the Robie House (1910) is one of the cornerstones of modern architecture. It was built for a successful young businessman, Frederick C. Robie, and today it is a National Historic Landmark. PARENTING

PARENTING SKILLS/PREVENT SUBSTANCE ABUSE

In a very short time children and parents will begin to understand their own personality styles and develop a greater understanding of each other. This in turn will stimulate positive interaction between them. We learn how to parent from watching our parents, who learned from their parents. Many of the skills that have been passed on are less than adequate, in today's world of increasing outside influences. This course's approach to parenting is based on consequences and assists parents to counteract negative behaviors with methods that are non-threatening, effective and build responsibility. Cost: $0
